A student's years in high school can be among his most fulfilling. Here is perhaps the richest collection of personalities to be found anywhere; the student who realizes that fact will derive great satisfaction from this portion of his life. Since these years are often filled with enriching experiences, the message of this book is this: live life to the fullest, by relating to all different people, and by absorbing all the ideas and experiences possible. Learn to rejoice in life for life's sake.

Paula Ertl was a member of last year's Gavel staff, and a good friend to many people. She loved life and lived hers fully, as an active member of school and community affairs. Paula faced a terrible illness last year, but she faced it always with great courage and determination. Therefore, it is to her spirit of living that this 1972 Gavel is dedicated.

Homecoming Livens Spirits

Homecoming weekend 1971 started off with an auditorium pep rally on Friday, October 15. The rally was attended by students who had purchased tickets to the homecoming game. The football squad received cheers from the audience as they ran down the left aisle of the auditorium through a drill team "honor guard". Mary Rust was announced as the homecoming queen. During the day, not only red and blue was worn, but suckers of red and blue were also sold by the Pep Club.

Early Saturday morning, finishing touches were added to the various original floats which were awaiting the homecoming parade outside Marshall. The floats and cars were judged by a committee headed by Miss Dorothy Smith. The parade, which included the band, drill team, homecoming court, floats and decorated cars, proceeded from the Marshall parking lot to Custer Stadium at 12:30.

After the 4,300 spectators had found seats in the stadium, the Marshall Eagles kicked off to the Washington Purgolders at 2:00 as 2,000 red, white and blue helium-filled balloons were released from the stands. As Marshall's band and drill team performed on the field during half-time, the scoreboard read Purgolders 19, Marshall 0. The homecoming queen and her attendents were presented by Mr. Hackett. The sophomore float, "Walk on Washington" was announced the winner of the float competition and the car entered by the swimming team received first place in the decorated car division. At the end of the game, the Eagles had been defeated 25-0.

"Parade Under the Stars" was the theme of the homecoming dance, held in Marshall's gymnasium. Grand Central Station provided the music to which the couples danced.

1971 COURT

Curriculum Expands Horizons

This year, through the coordination of the eleven different departments at John Marshall, an array of subjects and courses were offered for the various needs and interests of Marshall students.

Truman Atwell, chairman of the Industrial Arts Department, when asked about the various courses offered stated, "According to the students, the courses are very exciting and interesting." In use this year for students of electronics was the elaborate Electronics Laboratory, which was developed last summer in room 128.

Another addition to John Marshall this year was a second language lab, put into use due to the increasing number of students enrolled in the foreign language program which is headed by Department Chairman Emil Heid.

Two new courses were offered by the Math Department for the first time this year. Applied Mathematics considered math topics necessary for work in the sciences and industrial arts. In Computer Concepts, students analyzed problems and wrote programs using computer languages. Alfred Stuermer, chairman of the Math Department, expressed the belief that John Marshall students have a comparatively high level of achievement in mathematics.

At least from the standpoint of student interest, the enrollment in new English courses has given an indication to Iva Johnson, head of the English Department, that courses are doing well.

Included in the Art Department, headed by Dorothy Smith, were nine new courses which provided for the many diversified interests that Marshall students exhibited in the field of art.

This year the boys invaded the realm of pots, pans, and cooking. All courses in Velma Mahood's Home Economics Department were made co-educational.

Introduced this year in the Physical Education program was Life Saving and Scuba Diving. "John Marshall is the only high school in the United States having a scuba diving program," according to Darwin Stover, head of the Physical Education Department. Scuba diving is an example of one of the lifetime sports, which this year great emphasis was put on in order to create sports interest for future years.

The Science Department, headed by Ralph Shepard, has tried to maintain interesting and varied subjects for students taking Science.

"America is a chain which is a link with humanity." This is the way in which Allan Prassar, chairman of the Social Studies Department, views American History. Along with U.S. History and U.S. Government, Marshall offered courses in Economics, Sociology, American Minorities, and World Affairs.

"This year's courses are very interesting," states William Wing, head of the Business Education Department. This department is concerned with teaching business principles.

Robert Beduhn, chairman of the Music Department, helped to plan the Winter Concert and the Spring Festival of Sounds, two highlights of the department this year.

BELOW: The senior band, directed by Mr. Yindra, practices for their half-time performances.

Among the new courses this year were Cinematography, Mythology, and co-ed Home Ec. In Cinematography, students learned the concepts of film making and produced their original films. In Mythology, Greek and Roman deities were brought to life as students studied classical literature. And for the first time, both sexes met in the kitchen and matched their culinary talents, as Home Ec. went co-ed for the first time.

Studio workshop and Printmaking classes expanded individual freedom in the art department. For the most part, students were left on their own in choosing their work. Studio workshop also performed a school service, supplying scenery for the plays.

Scientists "Trip Out" on Nature

Under the supervision of Marcel Lachenmann, the Biology 3 and 4 classes made two field trips this past year.

On October 8th, the students traveled to the Lake Wilke area near Sheboygan. The purpose of this trip was to observe the surrounding biological environment. Students took soil examples and examined the various types of terrain. Mr. Lachenmann took some of the students out on the lake in his boat to study different aquatic environments.

The Botanical Gardens at Whitnall Park and the Milwaukee County Zoo were sites viewed on a second trip made just 10 days later. The brief stop at the park provided students with time to study different types of land and vegetation. Upon arriving at the zoo, students were given questionnaires concerning the animals and customs of the zoo. Students were able to view the adaptations of animals in areas different from their natural habitat.

Startling Conclusion Witnessed

ABOVE: The jury listens attentively as the evidence is presented.

Who killed Miss French? Was it really the innocent-looking defendant Leonard Vole (Dave Zimmerman)? Perhaps it was his unloving, selfish wife Romaine (Janet Sherkow). And what about the housekeeper, Janet MacKenzie (Robin Shapiro) who wanted the old lady's inheritance to herself? This question kept the audience guessing until the startling final scenes of Witness for the Prosecution, a tense drama by Agatha Christie presented in Marshall's auditorium on Friday, November 12, and Saturday, November 13. The play was directed by Mr. Ralph Bielenberg and the sets were constructed by Mr. Robert Zacher's Theatre Arts class.

The play is set in London, and concerns the problems encountered by an outstanding English barrister, Sir Wilfred Robarts (Jerry Lerner) in defending a man against whom all the fingers of suspicion obviously point. Matters are further complicated by a brilliant and infuriating prosecuting attorney named Myers (David Maiman) whose key witness is the defendant's own wife. Although Sir Wilfred is convinced that her testimony is completely false, he cannot crack the case until he receives a package of very incriminating letters from a mysterious woman (Terri Minash) who claims a grudge against Mrs. Vole. With this evidence, he is able to break down Romaine on the witness stand and Leonard Vole is aquitted. But this is only the beginning of the action as the shocking and complicated truth is finally unraveled.

Scholars Recognized in Annual Ceremony

According to Mrs. Barbara Nevers, the obect of this year's National Honor Society program was "to initiate new members with ceremony and dignity."

This year, instead of inviting an outside speaker to address the group, students were chosen to speak on the four different criteria for membership in the society. Judy Laufer spoke on character, Jeff Glick on leadership, Sarah Kubitz on scholarship, and Michael Hilgart on service. Additional speakers included Karen Kurowski, who was the society's historian, and Alana Chipman, the society's presiding officer who gave the welcoming address.

"I Have a Dream . . . . . .

The Reverend Martin Luther King, Jr. was a man born with a dream — one that was interrupted by an assassin's bullet on April 4, 1968. This was not only a blow to the black man but to all men, for Martin Luther King fought for us all.

The Afro-American Club, sponsored by Miss Gloria Bolden, presented an auditorium program commemorating the Rev. King's birthday on January 15. Highlights of the program were the singing of Mr. Walter Washington, the recitation of "I Have A Dream" by Ken Gold, and the performance of Marvin Turner, which included singing and reading.

The Afro-American Club intends to make this program of commemoration for Dr. Kingan annual event at John Marshall.

Warm Concert Breaks the Ice

On the evening of February fourth at 8 o'clock, the 1972 Winter Concert began, with a performance by the Concert Orchestra. Mr. Frank Orlando, conductor, directed the orchestra in six pieces, including Mozart's Impressario Overture, Schubert's Symphony No. 5 (First Movement), and Rodgers and Hammerstein's Sound of Music.

When the Concert Orchestra concluded their performance, Mr. Yindra and the Symphonic Band took over. They completed the evening's entertainment with Folksong Suite by Ralph Vaughan Williams, selections from "Sweet Charity" by Cy Coleman and Dorothy Fields, and From Tropic to Tropic by Russell Alexander.

According to many members of the band, orchestra, and audience, this year's Winter Concert was a great evening of music.

Statewide Committee Evaluates

This past year John Marshall was visited by the North Central Association. The NCA is an accrediting association that helps schools establish normative and quality standards. The committee tried to rate Marshall's effectiveness as a teaching institution. The visit was the culmination of a year of school preparation to retain a favorable status in the NCA's regional organization.

School evaluation consisted of three parts: the self study, done by the school itself, the evaluation of an outside committee, and the implementation of modifications issued by the evaluation committee.

Dr. James Reiels, principal of NNicolet High School, was the chairman of the coordinating committee, and thus in charge of the three day evaluation of Marshall High School.

Morning Assembly Swings

Rendering jazz, blues, and mambos, the UWM Jazz Ensemble was received enthusiastically by auditorium group 1. Under the direction of Dr. Jon Boggs the ensemble performed a wide variety of musical pieces including a selection of numbers from West Side Story. Individual talent was displayed in a number of solos and some members showed versatility on more than one instrument. The group itself accentuated the sound of jazz and their music was an enlightening tribute to it. Their performance was answered with a standing ovation and the ensemble was coaxed by the audience into an encore. In this way, they concluded the program with the excitement of their music.

BELOW: The microscope provides a means of examining the slides of the bat's tragus.

Batman Recognized Internationally

Glen Koehler has literally gone''batty''. Glen, Marshall's expert on the brown bat, has received encouragement and guidance from Mr. Leonard Schulze.

As a sophomre, Glen entered his research project, ''The Acoustic Physiology of the Tragus of the Little Brown Bat'' in the Southeastern Wisconsin Science Fair and it earned the 2nd grand prize award which was presented to the school. As a result of the award, Glen won an all-expense-paid trip to the 1970 International Science Fair in Baltimore, Maryland. In his junior year, Glen placed 1st at the Marquette Science Fair in the Biology category.

Glen has constructed a model of the tragus, a piece of tissue located directly in front of the bat's ear, and connected various sound systems equipment to it, which enables him to hear sounds in roughly the same way a bat hears them. All this work has a purpose because Glen hopes to build a device to aid the blind.

Glen plans to major in zoology in college, specializing in mammalogy and, of course, bats. He has certainly earned the title of ''Batman''.

"West Side Story" Resounds

West Side Story, a long-playing Broadway show and movie during the early sixties and winner of ten Academy Awards, was performed for capacity audiences in Marshall's auditorium March 23, 24, and 25. Co-directors of the musical were Mr. Jack Frost, dramatics, and Mr. Robert Beduhn, music.

Based on the book of the same title by Authur Laurents, the story is similar to a modern day Romeo and Juliet, set in New York's lower west side during the 1950's. The plot centers on the tragic love affair between Tony (Jerry lerner), a member of an American street gang, the Jets, and Maria (Julia Doherty), sister of Bernardo (Randy Lubart), who leads the rival Puerto Rican Sharks. After a knife fight where Bernardo kills the Jet's leader (Robert Farrell) and Tony kills Bernardo; Bernardo's girl, Anita (Meridee Sagadin) after being harrassed by the

Artists Display Individual Talents

Once again, Marshall students presented an evening of cultural enrichment in the Performing Arts Night, held last year on April 24. Representing the visual, musical, and physical art, this event was started to give gifted Marshall students a chance to demonstrate their artistic skills. Art exhibits were on display in the library, where visitors were allowed to wander and admire them at leisure. Many Marshall artists have won high honors for their work, and some of their prizewinning creations were on display. Later in the evening, visitors were entertained by various vocal and instrumental groups. Miss Esther Heiden's Advanced Gymnastics class performed routines on the eneven bars and floor exercise with hoops, followed by some graceful compositions by the Dance Ensemble. The auditorium was filled with visitors from eight to ten o'clock, watching these demonstrations of talent.

Purple Blossoms Flourish

An Oriental mood predominated the 1972 prom, held Saturday evening, May 6, from 8:00 to 11:30 p.m. "Under the Blossoming Plum" was the theme of this year's prom, with music provided by Pete Leo's orchestra. The dance was held in the cafeteria, transformed appropriately by the Decorations Committee.

Chalet on the Lake was the location of the post prom, which lasted from 12:30 to 3:30 a.m. Music for post prom was provided by Integrated Light and Sound who appeared last summer at Milwaukee's Performing Arts Center.

Credits for the planning of the prom go to Mr. Richard Steele, faculty chairman. Mr. Steele was assisted in his work by the members of the Dance Committee, headed by Mary Rust.

The 1972 prom court consisted of Queen Regina Hishmeh and King Keith Dobbe, Lenise Banse and Mike Skiba, Donna Grosskopf and Ken Greenberg, Linda Lipscomb and Jon Bromaghim, Patty Rupprecht and John Karegeannes, Sherry Sklenar and Bruce Ashworth, and Barbara Zanon and Tom Guenther.

Striders 2nd

This season's cross country team had a high precedent set for them by the previous year's state championship squad. With the loss of many varsity runners because of graduation, the team nevertheless posted a 3-1 dual meet record and placed second behind a high ranking Boy's Tech team in the City Meet.

Entering six invitationals, the harriers gained first place in the North Side Championship, received second place honors in the Trojan Invitational, and took third at the Marshall Invitational.

For Rick Zaborske, the team's number one man, record breaking became a habit. He broke the course record at Washington Park in the Pius-Marshall Meet, and reigned as individual city champion when he bettered the previous mark at Wilson Park. He also gained individual honors and course records in both the Trojan Invitational and the North Side Championship.

Cagers Doomed by Overtimes

The 1971-1972 Cagers' 8-12 record may not sound very impressive, but with the addition and subtraction of only a few pointseither way it could have easily been 19-1. The season was depressing for many reasons. First, the team lost to State Champion Hamilton by only 5 points, which was probably the closest that Hamilton came to defeat in Conference play. Second, after leading against Tech, King, and North, the Eagles lost by only a few points. Third, Marshall lost four Conference overtime games to Washington, Bay View, Custer, and Riverside. In Non-Conference play, the Eagles lost to Madison West, third in State, Pius, second in the WISAA Tournament, and Appleton West, which has gone to the State finals in Madison for the last two years. In State Sectional Playoffs, the Eagles revenged Custer in a well-played game which enabled them to meet Rufus King. After being behind by 13 points early in the first quarter, 17-4, the Cagers' defense went to work and the team went ahead by 2 at the end of the third and then by 5 late in the fourth quarter. Victory was apparent until, with only two seconds remaining, King scored on a desperation shot to tie the score and then stifle the Eagles in overtime, 52-46, ending another season.

The Grapplers, minus eleven lettermen from last year's varsity team, posted a 6-6 dual meet record, good enough for a seventh place in the City Standings. "Because of a substantial loss of last year's lettermen our team this season went through a rebuilding program. I was satisfied with the results of the team, considerng the circumstances," commented Mr. Robert Foti, head coach.

Matmen who posted the best individual records of the varsity squad were juniors Glenn Steinbrecker (98 pounds), Chuck Cording (119), Rich Pritzel (126), and senior Dave DeBarge (132).

The Marshall gymnasts won two of the three biggest meets this past year and wound up in second place in state.

In the city meet, Bernie Van Wie led the team by capturing first places on parallel bars, still rings, and all around event. Others who placed in city were Greg Kalkoff, first in floor exercise; Ron Vogel, second on long horse and sixth in floor exercise; Mike Wickman, second on parallel bars; Rick Adams, third on still rings; and Tim Jenness, third on high bar and seventh in the all-around event.

The musclemen also won the state sectional meet, placing two or more boys in four of the six events. Marshall, however, in what was considered a close meet, lost to Greenfield by one-half of a point in the state meet. Boys who placed were Bernie Van

Swimmers Splash to Second

Although they had a 1-10 won-lost record, the Marshall swimmers made a comeback to the second place in the City Relays and City Meet this past season.

John Struck led the team with a first place in the backstroke and a third in the individual Medley event. Other thirds were taken by the 200 Medley relay team, and by Ian Furness in the breaststroke. The 400 free relay team took a fourth, while sixth place was taken by in the following events: Mark Saeger in the 200 free, Bob VanErden in diving and 50 free, Richard Schmidt in the 100 fly, Dave Werwath in the 100 free, Karl Hackbarth in the 100 back, and Wynn Gajkowski, the 100 breast. Selected To All-City

Under the guidance of Coach Raymond Hendrickson, Marshall Griders took fourth place in the city conference this year. Out of a total of eight games, three were won. This year's captain, Tom Ricco, was chosen for the first string All-City team. Last year's team had six returning lettermen, five of which returned to the team for another season.

An interesting play which occurred at North Stadium, against North, was when number twenty-two, Dave Miller, ran back a punt which had been touched on returning to the ground. Miller ran to, or over the goal line and was then called back. The referee ruled Miller had stopped on the sixteen yard line; therefore, the ball was placed on the sixteen yard line for the next play. Marshall's Griders then succeeded in making the touchdown.

According to Coach Hendrickson, Marshall has a very good nucleus to make up next year's team. The nucleus is composed of two experienced quarterbacks; a great amount of speed; two out of three defensive backs are returning and also experienced line guards. Marshall also had a good sophomore team last year.

Coach Hendrickson stated, "This year's team had many good seniors, but not enough to fill the holes of last year's graduation. We could have had a better team this year if all the returning players would have come out for football again. Jobs and attending school in the mornings only, made it difficult for some of the boys. If all of the juniors would have been on this year's team, we might have won some of our closer games."

Marshall's Griders, after July fourth, gave up every Tuesday and Thursday of their summer vacation until one week before school began. Then the practices were held twice a day, every day.

1971 proved to be an impressive year for Marshall's golf team, as revealed by the 13½-½ record. Marshall's golf team was able to achieve this record under the coaching of John Bruggink and also through individual performance. Three of the outstanding players were Phil Kohorn, who, through a great effort, succeeded in taking second place in the City Meet, outstanding senior, Dave Karnel, who captured sixth in the city, and Stuart Blacher, taking eighth place. Marshall also won the one-day city tournament with the lowest total score among all the schools. The team practiced every day after school at County Golf Club Courses. Out of the eight returning players only one, Stuart Blacher, is a letterman. Although there is no special uniform for Marshall's golf team, players do follow the regular athletic code.

Racketmen Place Second In City

Although Marshall's tennis team was not as well balanced as previous years and there were many individualists, Marshall's Racketmen tied for a second place standing in the city tournament with a total of 57 wins and 13 losses. Last year was the first year the city conference allowed two doubles teams from each school to compete in the conference competition.

Marty Coello, voted the most outstanding player and captain of the Racketmen, captured a second place in the city tournament. Others who also displayed a great deal of effort were Al Katz and Dan Friedman.

According to Mr. Zwick, this year's team will probably be built upon Dan Friedman and Rick Mechanic, two returning Lettermen. He also stated that he was not too optimistic about next season's team because many boys are not willing to cooperate with the school's athletic code.

Mr. Roger Hytinen, varsity baseball coach, ended his coaching career with glory as his 1971 baseball team captured the city conference title with an 18-3 record. Commenting on the season he said, "This is by far the best team I have ever coached." The team proved this statement by leading the city conference with a .276 team batting average and was just edged out by Boy's Tech defensively with a .941 fielding average.

A highlight of the season was the naming of four players to the Milwaukee Sentinel-Journal All-City baseball team. Larry Domnitz, shortstop, who batted .403 and tied for the league lead in runs batted in, was named to the first team along with pitcher Dave Armstrong who led the league with a 9-0 record. Capturing second team honors were Paul Champ, outfielder, and Steve Hall, second baseman.

Letter winners for the championship season were Ken Beck, Gary Strand, Tom Ricco, Jim Gullickson, John Geiger, John Bonfiglio, Glen Mittelstadt, Tom Jelacic, Rick Kroboth, Bill Milkowski, Larry Domnitz, Paul Champ, Steve Hall, and Dave Armstrong.

Mental Attitude Pays Off

The 1971 track team began very slowly according to Coach Joseph Tarantino. The team had many members and it was to be considered a building year. Throughout the entire year, the team as shown by their record acheived constant improvement. The boys always worked as a team, and no one individual took predominance over the others. Although Marshall didn't do well during the 1971 season in dual or invitational meets, the track team reached the goal of City Champions. Marshall sent three boys to the State meet. Karroll Bohnak captured fourth place in the mile; Rick Zaborski took second place in the two mile; and Al Gamroth, not placing.

Some highlights of the season were: Rick Zaborski took first place in a two mile run; Dave Vincent captured first place in shot put; and Tim Jeness succeeded in taking first place in the pole valut. Coach Joseph Tarantino stated, "Marshall's track team was a mediocre team, but the boys' efforts led them to their goal." The athletes felt this way too. As one of the members of the track team said, "We felt that through a team effort we could accomplish anything." This summed up the team's feeling for the entire season.

Cheerleaders Explore New Activities

The Marshall cheerleaders were under the new direction of Mrs. Sharon Arbiture this year. The girls tried to rally school spirit at all Marshall football and basketball games. This year they were also cheering at gymnastic, wrestling, and swimming meets.

The girls worked hard all year long — even capturing first place at a cheerleading camp during the summer. They were able to attend the camp by sponsoring car washes and bake sales. Their activities also helped to pay for the girls' uniforms.

The cheerleaders also participated in all Marshall pep rallies and helped the Pep Club promote Winter Sports Week. The captains of the cheerleading squad were Brenda Niebruegge, football, and Kris Schneidler, basketball.

DRILL TEAM OFFICERS — First Row: Gayle Dittmar; Sharon Ausloos; Captain, Lee Ann Huhnke; Debbie Pape; Tricia Gilkson.

John Marshall's 1971-72 Drill Team was a familiar sight to hundreds of sports fans this year. They performed at many events, including Homecoming festivities, the Soccer Invitational at Lincoln Park and basketball games. The precisely executed performances were the culmination of many long hours of practice and effort. The forty girls on the team were led by Lee Ann Huhnke, captain, with the help of her officers, Debbie Pape, 1st lieutenant, Sharon Ausloos, 2nd lieutenant, and guides Gail Dittmar and Tricia Gilkison.

Miss Joyce Dunning, the team's advisor, aided the girls during practices by pointing out flaws and offering suggestions to correct them. "It's been a pleasure working with these fine girls this past year. We trust the hard work and talented performances were appreciated by the John Marshall community."

Mermaids Display Great Improvement

Although 1971 was only their second year of competition, Marshall's Girls' Swim Team had a fine season. They finished third in the All-City meet and overwhemed the competition in the Municipal Recreation meet, where they captured 13 trophies. The girls also participated in dual meets with Custer, Brookfield East, and West Division, and swam in the State Sectional meet. The team, consisting of 20 varsity and 15 junior varsity members, practiced two to three nights every week.

The outstanding swimmers of this year's team were: Cindy Rittman, Karen Johnson, Sue Esser, Dawn Orlowski, and Jean Kozminski. These five girls were also the major letter winners, a new award which the swim team just started. Captain of the team was senior Debbie Schroeder, and a new co-captain was selected after each meet on the basis of performance.

Volleyball Expands With New B-Team

Over 90 girls tried out for this year's girls' volleyball team, which was supervised by Miss Joyce Dunning. From these girls, 22 were finally chosen. Co-captains Beth Sheeley and Yolanda Gresbach led the 10 varsity players while Pat Zitzke served as captain of the newly formed B team. One team member, Jean Zoeller, said this about the addition of the B team: "This is the first year Marshall has had two teams and through much practice it turned out to be a successful season and well worth the trouble of having two teams."

Last year's girls' track and field team, also under the direction of Miss Dunning, belonged to W.I.A.A. and therefore was able to participate in athletic events with other Milwaukee schools. The girls participated in five meets during the season plus the state sectionals. Among the track events were the 880 yard, 440 yard, 100 yard, and 50 yard dash, and the 70 yard hurdles. The field events consisted of softball throw, shotput, and discus.

Every Monday between the months of January and March, the girls' basketball team gathered to compete with another school. The 12 girl team was guided by Miss Sandra Sabbath, Wendy Schultz and Kris Maegli, co-captains, and Ann Braza, manager. One member of the team, Sandy Warren, stated, "This year's team is relatively inexperienced. We have a very good defense and with practice we should have a good team in the future."

Under the supervision of Mr. Thomas Marx, the Annual staff worked every eighth hour in room 153, in creating this year's yearbook. While students in other classes were sleeping or gazing out the window, members of the annual staff were scampering through the halls in order to get a story or perhaps to get an interesting picture or two for the book. There were also other important aspects in the construction of this book. This included the typing of numerous pages of copy, the selection of subjects to be covered, the style of the book, the cutting and pasting of thousands of pictures, the rereading of stories, and the attempt in constructing interesting and appealing headlines and captions.

Only in times of disaster would there be more activity in the air raid shelter, room 141, than there was when the Gavel newspaper staff met there during this past year. The staff, under the direction of advisor, Mr. John Towle, and editors-in-chief, Judy Laufer and Judy Robbins, made many changes in the newspaper. Although the price remained the same, $2.50, the newspaper was longer, with larger type. The reason for this change was the switch to North Shore Publishing Co. for their printing. The paper was also distributed on Friday mornings rather than after school. Major interests in stories this year were public interviews, and letters from Congressman Henry Reuss.

New Student Government Faces Challenge

This year a new form of student government was adopted by John Marshall. The change consisted of separating the student government into two separate councils, to which members of the student body were elected.

The Student Senate, under the chairmanship of George Tamms and advisorship of Mr. Albert Villasenor, dealt with academic and curricular issues. Four representatives from each grade level were chosen to fill the positions of this group. Under the leadership of Carla Wertheim, the Activities Board, made up of one student from every three homerooms, handled student activities including dances and fund raising projects. The Board's advisor was Mr. Donald Barczak.

ATHLETIC MONITORS — Donna Grosskopf, Susan Pural, Lynn Radtke, Maria Alexander.

The Gavel yearbook and newspaper were again assisted by Mr. Frederick Winter and the business staff this year. The staff, made up of nine girls with high scholastic averages, handled the subscriptions and money collections for both publications. With the help of business manager, Kathy Luck, they also worked on ad layouts, billing, and business correspondence. The girls devoted one period a day to the staff, plus many hours before and after school for organization and distribution.

Every sport has something different associated with it, but at Marshall all sports have one thing in common — registration cards. This year Marshall would have been buried under hundreds of medical and eligibility forms without the valuable services of the athletic monitors. These four girls tackled the enormous job of typing and filing all the forms as well as taking care of the athletic bulletin boards and the trophy cases. The girls were recommended and chosen because of their clerical abilities.

Marshallettes Lead the Way

The Marshallettes of John Marshall served as the school's usherettes and hostesses. The approximately sixty-five girls were hostesses for orientations, conference days, and open house. They also ushered for the school play, the winter concert, the musical, the performing arts night, the spring concert, and the water ballet. Under the guidance of Miss Joan Bruggink, the Marshallette meetings were usually scheduled for Wednesdays and about once a week before the coming event. The girls volunteered for the work they did and got one service point for every hour of work.

At the end of the school year, the Marshallette tryouts were held. The members of the executive board, Karen Goldman, Alana Chipman, Ann Braza, Jaclyn Schwade, Jessie Schwade, and Katherine Liedtke gave the prospective members tours. A week later the girls had to individually give an executive board member a tour which was scored appropriately. This, the grade point average of a B or higher, and the recommendations of three major subject teachers were used as the basis for the choice of girls.

The Steno Pool this year was under the new direction of Jerry Grillo. Through the girls in Steno Pool, Marshall students were able to receive copies of tests and study sheets. The girls typed up the tests or study sheets which the teachers requested and ran off as many copied as asked for. Besides doing a service, this also prepared the girls for future secretarial work. According to Mr. Grillo, "The girls do a lot of work and get very little reward for their efforts."

Library Managed Effectively

Marshall students who attended the library this year were assisted by library monitors. These girls served before and after school and during free periods. The number of girls wanting to be library monitors this year was tremendous. It was a difficult job for Mrs. Doris Rea and Mrs. Jane Boorse to select the girls who would serve as library monitors this year. Among the monitors' duties were the tasks of checking out books, straightening shelves, and preparing books for use by both students and teachers. The girls also took care of the attendance for students using the library during their study periods. New to the library this year were two microfilm readers, of which it was also the girls' duty to instruct students how to use.

The monitors were aided this year by Mrs. Dorothy Kotas, library secretary. It was her job to type up catalog cards and to keep general order in the library.

Also assisting the teachers this year were Marshall's driver education monitors. The many monitors performed services under the direction of Mr. James Fallon. Among these many services were helping the students in the driving simulators and on the driving range, running errands for the Driver Education teachers, and working the projectors and the wide number of other equipment used in the driver education classes at Marshall.

Another one of the monitors' tasks was helping the teachers mark and record tests.

This year's science and driver education monitors worked hard and helped to lighten the work loads of the teachers.

All of Marshall's science teachers were given well needed aid by this year's science monitors. They assisted the biology, chemistry, physics, and general science teachers. Among the many jobs the science monitors performed were helping the teachers collect and record papers, measuring and mixing chemicals, setting up the experiments performed by the teachers, and the equipment the students used for their experiments. Without the help of this year's science monitors, science teachers felt that they would have had a very difficult time.

As usual, the office monitors were about the busiest monitors this year. These girls gave up one of their study halls or time before and after school to help lighten the work of the secretaries and principals. Besides acting as receptionists, their duties included issuing detained and tardy slips and delivering call slips. They also were responsible for checking students in and out of school. The monitors worked under the direction of secretary, Miss Carmela Zanoni, and were appointed with the approval of the vice-principals.

Anyone who had been the victim of a computer programming mistake could fully appreciate the value of Marshall's guidance monitors this past year. They not only helped the counselors adjust programs, but also delivered call slips, filed and alphabetized, and organized the various bulletin boards. The girls, who were selected by guidance director Mr. Eugene Culver, assumed greater responsibilities this year with the addition of a new section to the guidance department. This area provided rooms for Mr. Robert Bryer, school psychologist, and Mr. Harry Brooks, vocational director, who were formerly in different areas of the school. The guidance monitors worked under the direction of secretary Miss Pat Prpish.

Thanks to the efforts of the movie monitors, Marshall students were able to see movies during 4th and 5th hour. Not only did they run the film projector, but they also ushered the aisles of the auditorium and checked student's tickets at the entrances. The movie monitors were under the supervision of Samuel Bloom. By becoming movie monitors, students gained knowledge in running movie equipment which could prove useful in the future.

Language lab monitors were kept very busy this year. A total of fifteen students gave up their study halls to render their services as language lab monitors. The monitors aided the teachers of French, Spanish, German, and Latin in the instruction of their courses. They also helped students when they encountered any problems. Some other jobs that they had were decorating bulletin boards, taking attendance, straightening shelves, and putting away records. A new job this year for some of the monitors was running a series of German films during 5th hour lunch. Under the supervision of Emil Heid, the students were taught how to run control booths and thread tapes. According to Mr. Heid, "The monitors are a great help. We could hardly do without them."

Girls Make Clinic More Efficient

With more students entering Marshall each year, the medical clinic has become a very busy place. Helping to make it run efficiently was the job of the clinic monitors. These girls worked diligently at keeping up student files, delivering call slips, and assisting the nurse, Mrs. Margaret Melchior, with her daily duties.

Also working with the monitors and nurse this year were seven adult volunteers, mainly parents of Marshall students. These women devoted usually one morning a week to help with vision and hearing tests, and to do some clerical work.

This year fifteen monitors assisted in running Marshall's most widely used facility, the bookstore. Under the watchful eye of Mr. Daniel Thekan, school accountant, these students gave up many hours before and after school, as well as during free periods, to aid in selling books, supplies, and tickets for various school events. Although the bookstore was open only before classes, after school, and during lunch hours, two monitors were always present to help with other essential services. They packed books for shipping, estimated resale values, and worked on bank deposits. Because space in the bookstore was limited, room 145 was set up as a store with counters and several cash registers to make book-buying easier and less confusing for all. The auditorium was also used at the end of the year to aid students in reselling used books.

Students Tackle Odd Jobs

MORNING ANNOUNCERS — George Tamms, Dean Papapetru, Evelyn Ziger.

With the supervision of Mr. John Bruggink, the locker monitors fixed faulty lockers and helped students who were having difficulties with their lockers. Marshall's locker monitors were always there when needed to lend a hand.

The team room monitors were directly involved in helping the quality of our athletic department. Their job was to issue the proper equipment and to make sure that John Marshall's athletes were in the proper uniforms.

Every weekday morning John Marshall students were awakened by Jerry Lerner, Dean Papapetru, George Tamms, and Evelyn Ziger. Under the direction of Mrs. Barbara Nevers, the morning announcers read messages from teachers and organizations over the P.A. to students throughout Marshall.

Looking backstage we could find a group of people who worked on the characters' appearances in school productions, the John Marshall make-up crew. It was up to these students, under the direction of Miss Dorothy Smith and Mr. Richard Steele, to transform the actors' faces into the people being portrayed. At the first and second meetings the crew was told about different types of make-up. Each member of the crew was then assigned to a character, told about him or her, and given time to practice creating this type of person. In a short time there was a dress rehearsal for the characters and their make-up specialists.

Under the direction of Miss Leah Bensman, the costume crew helped to make the play and musical a success last year. This was Miss Bensman's second musical and she stated that without the costume crew the plays would not have been as effective. The crew not only had to help the actors find their character, but had to detect the author's mood. The members of the costume crew studied the history of clothes through different eras in order to be more effective. These students worked in conjunction with the make-up and stage crew. Suggestions were also given to the costume crew by Mr. Robert Zacher and Mr. John Frost.

Behind the scenes at all of John Marshall's plays and programs a group of skilled students could be found working the lights, sound, and special effects. These boys comprised the Stage Crew, which was under the leadership of Mr. Frank Orlando. Members were taught the basic technical skills vital to a good production and how to effectively use the equipment behind stage.

The crew gave its time at most of the rehearsals of assemblies, musicals, and plays in order to coordinate the scripts with the services they performed. Set changes were also one of the numerous duties of the crew.

Serving as an orientation program for acquiring the skills needed to enter Senior A.V.A., the Junior Audio Visual Aids Program taught many seventh and eighth graders the basic techniques required to run projectors, tape recorders, record players, and other such equipment. Instructed by Mr. Samuel Bloom and Senior A.V.A. members, the young staff forfeited both time and effort before and after school to get the operative training required.

Though not yet able to serve in the A.V.A. office during their study periods, the junior high students gained experience by operating equipment in their respective classes. Said Mr. Bloome, "The kids gained useful knowledge while doing an excellent service to the school."

Jim Valone and Bob Gersonde ready a film for projection.

Many students sacrificed their study hall periods each day in order to give their services to the Senior A.V.A. Under the guidance of Mr. Samuel Bloom, the young projectionists could frequently be seen pushing movie projectors, tape recorders, and the like to classrooms who requested these audio-visual aids. But this was only one of the various duties of the Senior A.V.A. monitor. Besides handling equipment, the monitors were also required to keep track of and sort out all films from the Milwaukee Public Museum. During the lunch hour, Senior A.V.A. members set up the noon movies and were also required to keep order in the auditorium while the films were being shown. On the occasions of assemblies, musicals, and concerts, it was the job of the staff to handle the spot lights. Enough knowledge was gained by the students so that they could not only run complicated machinery but repair it as well. All projectors, record players, and other aids were constantly kept in good working order.

Paper work and incoming messages were handled by the girls in the A.V.A. office. Besides these secretarial duties, they also sold tickets for the noon movies.

Resolved: Debates Provoke Thought

The John Marshall Debate League under the guidance of Mrs. Suzanne Kroupa and leadership of three returning varsity members, tried to equal the performance of last year's championship squad. This year's topic was, "Resolved, the United States Jury System should be significantly changed." The club met Wednesdays after school to prepare for the six round robin meets of the first semester, held against other high schools.

Al Rosman and Joe Lepgold were the two returning affirmative varsity members. Ralph Quinsey and Mike Stein were those representing the negative. The total squad consisted of fourteen members, including those in the junior varsity and junior high divisions. The general purpose of the club was stated by the coach, Mrs. Kroupa: "To stimulate a sense of inquiry and critical thinking."

Individual Voices Work As One

Under the direction of Mr. Robert Beduhn, the Concert Choir rehearsed daily in Room 252. There was an unusually large number of new faces in choir. Said Mr. Beduhn, "I had doubts at the beginning of the year, of whether or not this would be a good choir. Their great attitude and ability to co-operate, however, compensated for their lack of experience."

The Choir's performances included the annual caroling trip, the Spring Concert, a concert at Our Lady of Sorrows, and the Broadway musical "West Side Story".

In September elections were held. The results were: Jeff Slough, president, Mark Saeger, vice-president, Patricia Rupprecht, secretary, Todd Slater, treasurer, and Paul Reamer, mascot.

Learning basic musical knowledge was the main job of Marshall's Mixed Chorus, under the instruction of Mr. Beduhn. In preparation for future occupation in the seats of A Cappella Choir, these 100 members practiced daily in order to get ready for school programs and concerts, where they could exhibit what they had learned throughout the year.

Under the direction of Mr. Robert Beduhn, 85 girls blended their voices in Girl's Chorus, during the third hour. The group practiced everyday in preparation for school programs, upcoming concerts, and community events. Tryouts, held in spring, judged the girls on their ability to sight-read, their voice quality, and their character. The girls were taught the basics of music and their main goal was entrance into A Cappella Choir.

SENIOR ORCHESTRA

Every day this past year strains of music ranging from symphonies and overtures to popular songs, could be heard in the halls around room 261, as the senior orchestra began rehearsals. The 45 piece string section met daily first hour in preparation for its various performances. One highlight of its season was the winter concert, which included selections from Schubert's "5th Symphony" and Rodger's and Hammerstein's "Sound of Music". The string players, who were supplemented by a 20 piece brass and wind section made up of members of the band, also performed at the spring concert, the National Honor Society program, and the musical.

Young Musicians Gain Maturity

The Intermediate Orchestra consisted of about thirty promising eighth, ninth, and tenth graders. These students came from the seventh grade of Marshall and the neighboring grade schools. Mr. Frank Orlando and the student teachers, Mrs. Jean Henderson and Mr. Mike Betz, guided and instructed the students throughout the school year. The daily periods of practice gave the musicians experience and an opportunity to develop their abilities. The musicians in the Intermediate Orchestra were trained to become members of the Senior Orchestra in years to come.

The marching band, composed of the senior band plus qualified members of the intermediate bands, seemed as active as the football team during the fall season. The band performed half-time and pregame routines at football games, played for pep rallies, marched in the Homecoming parade, and presented a Halloween parade for 65th Street School.

During concert season, the band's activities included the Winter and Spring Concerts, the Band Banquet, exchange concerts, and flower and bake sales to raise money for the band trip.

Mr. Michael Yindra, director, remarked, "Although this year the band was relatively young, containing many sophomores and juniors, it did an outstanding job."

Musicians With Age

John Marshall not only had a Senior Concert Band this year, but also two junior high bands, called the Junior Band and the Intermediate Band. Both were directed by Mr. Michael Yindra.

The Junior Band was a class for students wanting to learn good musicianship and desiring to advance in musicals, as well as instrumental studies. Entrance into the Intermediate and possibly Senior Bands was its members main objective. It consisted of about forty boys and girls in the seventh grade.

After the Junior Band, students often advanced to the Intermediate Band. It consisted of two parts: the eighth grade section, which met fourth hour, and the ninth through twelfth grade section, which met seventh and eighth hours.

Under the direction of Miss Sandra Sabbath, the Catalina Club met every other day during eighth hour. The girls chosen for the Catalina Club had to enjoy swimming and also possess certain aquatic abilities. After the tryouts and initiations, the girls began to work on perfecting the stunts that they used in the annual Water Ballet, where skills which were practiced on throughout the entire year were exhibited. This year's Water Ballet was presented on the days of May 11, 12, 13, and displayed not only the talents of individuals but also team effort.

The dance ensemble consisted of a number of hard working girls who enjoyed dancing. Girls trying out for dance ensemble were chosen for their physical coordination. Under the direction of Esther Heiden, these girls practiced eighth hour every other day as well as before and after school. These practices helped the girls improve their body movements and coordination. During the school year, the girls performed in special programs and in the annual musical, which, this year was "West Side Story." One of the girls' highlights was their appearance in this year's Christmas program which was presented to all three auditorium groups the last two days before Christmas vacation.

The Girl's Bowling League consisted of sixty girls, under the supervision of Miss Carol Abraham. They combined fun and sport on Wednesday afternoons at Bowlero Bowling Lanes.

The girls were given instruction tips and pointers from Miss Abraham. The high averages were held by Jill Salisbury, 132, and Pam Krysiak, 129. The president of the club was Jill Salisbury and the secretary was Gail Salisbury.

One hundred and fifty girls composed the Marshall Pep Club this year and helped with such varied activities as homecoming week, pep rallies, and winter sports week.

The girls decorated much of the building beofre every major game and event. When not engaged in painting and pasting, they compiled the agendas for pep rallies and held bake sales.

The meetings held every other week, under the supervision of Mrs. Sally Gunnerman, were conducted by Fran Spano, president, with the help of the other officers, Terry Orlick, Shari Greiten, Jeannie Curran, Mary Ellen Pittman, Sandy Brzezenski, Judy Radmer and Sue Gullickson.

This year's drama club with officers, Kevin Siebenlist, president, Terry Meyerson, vice-president, and Pauli Sebele, secretary, were provided with many opportunities to display their talent at their regular meetings held every first and third Tuesday of the month.

In addition to seeing productions as Hamlet, Marat Sade, and The Rivals, the Drama Club encouraged participation in other activities such as the school plays. The purpose of the club is to display various dramatic arts to interested students who are eager to learn various aspects of acting.

Under the guidance of Mr. William Laste, the chess club competed against other Milwaukee high schools this past year. Twenty-five students from grades seven through twelve joined the club. It's officers were Jim Jurkowski, president, Ken Freund, vice-president, Gunnar Brinck, secretary, Stephen Foster, sergeant at arms, and Keith Kaiman, captain of the team. Many exhibitions were held to show students various strategies used in chess. The games provided excitement and good competition for members as they strived to earn the top position.

Future Business Leaders of America was an organization which assisted students in developing business leadership and provided them with further insight into careers that interested them.

Under the direction of faculty advisor Miss Emily Dohmann, the club fulfilled these goals by listening to guest speakers and viewing films on various business professions. Some FBLA members were given the opportunity to attend the State Leadership Convention at Green Lake, Wisconsin to attain further understanding of the business world.

Many senior students interested in a business career after graduation got a head start by enrolling in the Distributive Education program. Members of DECA attended classes half days and worked the other half at various local business establishments. Students received credit for their work and were also graded by their employers. Some club activities were the sale of candy bars and the sponsoring of a banquet in honor of the employers who made the program possible. Several club members attended the State Leadership Conference at Green Lake and some also participated in various business contests. Under the supervision of Mr. William Flamme, the club attempted to prepare students for full-time jobs in the business world.

After school in room 242, every second and fourth Wednesday of each month, the German Club met and quite a few of the students in Marshall's German classes attended. This year's German Club consisted of about fifty active members in various grades who took on all the responsibilities of the club. Mrs. Evelyn Taus and Mr. Rolf Altwein were the advisors, taking on the job planning and carrying out many varied activities in correlation with the club's officers. This year the president was Kevin Siebenlist, the vice president was Pauline Sebele, the secretary was Josie Schmidtner, and the treasurer was Carol Engelmohore.

The purpose of the club was to talk German and learn German ways. Some of the organized programs the German Club participated in were soccer, hiking, bike riding, a picnic, and pretzel eating contests. Another goal of the club was keeping the members active with fun programs. Two of the biggest events of the year were the traditional Christmas Party and the annual spring dinner which was held at a German restaurant. The entire meal was ordered in German.

Under the direction of Miss Harmony Weissbach, the French Club, with officers Mary Schaefer, president, Kathy David, vice-president, and Cathy Barak, secretary-treasurer, enjoyed a successful year which was highlighted with the annual French Club dinner. The club put emphasis on learning about French living and traditions. The club celebrated the coming of the three wisemen, St. Catherine's Day, the Mardi Gras, and received a French exchange student from Mount Mary College.

Under the supervision of Mr. Martin Sayles, the Spanish Club enjoyed many activities during the year. The club met every other Wednesday and much work was accomplished. "There was an excellent variety of programs and activities this year," says Mr. Sayles. One of the activities enjoyed by the club this year was the learning of many popular Spanish songs. Mexican flower-making was another project. Whatever the activity, members learned about Spanish culture. According to Mr. Sayles, the purpose of the club is, "to experience aspects of Spanish culture which cannot be learned in the classroom."

Elections of officers of the club were held at the beginning of the year. Sandy Warren and Sue Edler were chosen president and vice-president respectively.

Latin Club, this year's largest club at Marshall, was also among its most active. Activities started in October with the plebe sale, in which old members (patricians) bid for new members (plebes) to serve as their slaves for a week. The positions were reversed a few weeks later at the patrician sale. The money from these auctions plus funds from numerous candy sales held throughout the year were combined in scholarships for Latin students at the end of the year. The highlight of the Latin Club activities was the Roman Banquet, which was held this year at the Chalet on the Lake.

"The Roman Empire at Marshall is flourishing. Latin might be dead at other schools, but is alive and well at Marshall," stated Mr. John Shissler, one of the club's advisors. He also reminds students, "Elke Sommers endorses Latin." Mr. Shissler and Miss Elaine Steiger assisted the club in its many activities.

Future Nurses of America was a club designed for the purpose of giving interested girls helpful and valuable information in the field of medicine. The forty-five club members met on alternate Thursdays under the direction of Mrs. Lois Jors. Films and speakers were supplied by Mr. Harry Brooks, Marshall's vocational guidance counselor. The officers this year were Jenny Joda, president; Kathy Platek, vice-president; Laurie Peplinski, secretary; and Judy Zwitter, treasurer.

Fifty-five seventh and eighth grade students participated in the Red Cross Club this year. The purpose of the club was to provide junior high-school students with an opportunity to engage in social activities and to learn leadership and organized skills.

Under the direction of Mrs. Barbara Monnier, the club advisor, the group accomplished the feat of raising money through an "Arnold the Pig" contest. The one hundred and fifty dollars collected was used to provide food for a needy family at Christmas. The money also went to a school fund. A scrapbook of Marshall was also made.

Under the driection of Mr. Alfred Stuermer, the Senior Mathematics Club met twice a month to discuss topics such as Non-Euclidean geometry, statistics, and computers. They also saw films dealing with the application of mathematics. The John Marshall Senior Mathematics club was affiliated with Mu Alpha Theta, the National Honorary High School and Junior College Mathematics club. Out of fifty members, twenty qualified as members of MU Alpha Theta. Each spring there was a ceremony for the Marshall initiates. Barb Zanon presided over the club as president.

Two years ago the Afro-American Club was formed under the direction of Miss Gloria Bolden. Last year, in taking on a broader outlook, it became a human relations club instead of a club concerned with the balck man. Students learned of the black man's experiences and circumstances, in addition to culture and history.

The Afro-American Club had twenty-five members this year. Along with their other activities, they organized a Christmas drive and collected over five hundred dollars to buy toys for needy children. Kenneth Gold was president of the club.

Under the driection of Mrs. Margaret Polomis, needles once again clicked at John Marshall High School. The knitting club met every Thursday after school. There were seventeen members and when they began in September not everyone could knit. The members of the knitting club were girls in grades 9-12 and came from all walks of life. Susan Gullickson presided over the club as president. The girls were planning a project for Easter — going to the children's hospital to entertain the children and make them gifts.

The thirty-two members of the John Marshall Home Economics club were very busy last year. It was a club open to all girls which met twice a month to plan and carry out various projects. The president was Laurel Schecely and vice-president was Sue Flor. The secretary-treasurer was Suzie Berstein. During the Thanksgiving season, the girls in club made pine cone turkeys. They also sold stationery, made Easter baskets for the Childrens' Hospital, planned and executed an end of the year picnic. Along with doing things for other people, they furthered their own interests by learning macrame and how to make small gifts. The club's advisor was Mrs. Elizabeth Asher.

The World Travel Club, under the direction of Mr. John Schaeffer, learned through the use of many films and slides about new and interesting places around the world. This year, club members learned how to get the most out of traveling, discussed the best means of travel, and the most interesting places to visit.

To qualify for membership into the club, a person must have beer taking that year or previously to that year a course in geography or history, and must have shown an interest in traveling.

In its second year of existence, the Earth Action Club has been successful in making people aware of our ecological problems. The club, under the advisorship of Miss Linda Muldoon and Mr. John Zielinski, accomplished something towards eliminating pollution by collecting and recycling old newspapers and non-returnable glass bottles. Leaflets containing phosphate contents of various detergents were passes out at neighboring grocery stores.

Senior students wishing to earn credit and pay while preparing for their future vocation could enorll in the Office Education Training Program. Under the direction of Miss Jill Ditzler, the members of the O.E. class attended classes half-days and worked the other half in various office positions.

Besides receiving on-the-job training, members also engaged in several club activities. The students also held several fund-raising events to raise money for the appreciation Banquet for their employers.

This past year the goal of the FTA Club was to acquaint students with possible careers in teaching and school administration and to provide a service to the students and faculty of the school. The students in the club offered tutoring to those students requesting it, and also acted as teachers' aides.

The members met alternate Thursdays under the direction of the faculty advisor, Mr. Harry Wilson. The student committee consisted of Kathy Talayka, Paulie Sebele and Gerda Breitwieser.

Skiers Traverse Slopes

Meeting once a month to plan outings to Little Switzerland near Slinger, Wisconsin, the Ski Club participated in various ski events. The main purpose of the club, according to Mr. Eric Oliver, the advisor, was to provide substantial savings to its members by utilizing group rates in travel and lodging.

Soccer finally caught on in the Milwaukee Public School System. It was only a year ago that Marshall's Blue Eagles was the only high school soccer team in the city. Over the past season the sport's popularity spread to thirteen other high schools. The Blue Eagles 3-5 record was good enough for third place in city competition. The soccer team also participated in tournaments held at the Milwaukee Auditorium and at the Summerfest.

Formed this past year, the Golden Age of Records, Radio, and Films, (G.A.R.R.F.), is a club that maintained and promoted the interest of records dating back to the 1800's, old radio programs, and old films with such greats as Charlie Chaplin and Buster Keaton.

Meetings were held every other Wednesday in room 246 under the supervision of Mrs.Vera Seter, and many activities were engaged in. Among these were a bake sale used to raise money to by movie film, and trips to Milwaukee and Chicago museums to see the nickelodeons there.

The officers of the club were Ross Kaplan, president; Daniel Laack, vice-president; Debra Reich and Diane Kersey, treasurers; and Todd Biege, sgt.-at-arms.

Marshall's philatelists under the direction of Mr. Elden Hunter met twice a month, in room 213. The club, which was organized the first semester Marshall opened, was designed to refine member's stamp collections. Besides the general information about putting a stamp collection together, many rare stamps were observed and members were told how they could acquire these.

To qualify for membership into the club, students must have shown some interest in stamps and stamp collecting.

The sixty members of the M-Club could be seen every Friday as they wore their letter sweaters to school. These athletes became members of M-Club by earning a major letter in any one or more of the ten varsity sports. The M-Club members, under the direction of Marshall's athletic director, Mr. Fred Winter, served as guides for directing parents at Open house, directed people for the school play, ushered at graduation, and acted as hosts for other school events. Members were also hosts for visiting teams during varsity games and sectional or regional competition held at Marshall.

This year's officers were Rick Deleff, president; Paul Champ, vice-president; John Messler, secretary; Mark Saeger, treasurer; and Ron Quincy, sergeant-at-arms.

Fun and Fitness Featured

The girls who belonged to this year's Junior Girl's Athletic Association engaged in many activities. Seventh and eighth grade girls met Tuesdays under the direction of Mrs. Sally McLevitch. After school on Thursdays the ninth grade girls met and were supervised by Miss Joyce Dunning. Swimming, gymnastics, volleyball, baseball, and softball were some of the sports activities they engaged in.

Girls in grades 10-12 were able to join Marshall's Senior Girl's Athletic Association. Any eligible girl could choose from the various activities. Among the many sports the girls participated in, under the direction of Miss Sandra Sabbath, were badminton, basketball, softball, football, and volleyball.

Improving skills on the uneven bar, on the balance beam, in vaulting, and in free exercise were but a few of the objectives of the Advanced Girls' Gym classes. Under the direction of Miss Esther Heiden, the girls tried to improve their bodies, self-assurance, and poise.

Club Lowers Itself to New Depths

For the purpose of promoting underwater diving both during the school year and during the summer months, the SCUBA Club, under the direction of Mr. Marcel Lachenmann, met about once a week. The Club's first few meetings consisted of teaching students the basic fundamentals of diving. Renting equipmnt at a reduced group rate, Mr. Lachenmann, a certified underwater instructor, gave lessons in Marshall's swimming pool.

After their training the boys were able to make dives in Lake Michigan and other lakes and ponds. One project included ice diving. Among the various projects proposed this year were diving expeditions during the summer and a diving vacation in the Caribbean.

ADMINISTRATION

Eugene P. Hackett

Principal

Mr. Eugene Hackett, now in his second year as principal of John Marshall, has exemplified his philosophies toward the students by allowing the introduction of such programs as the open lunch hour and the demerit system. "I believe in giving students as much responsibility as possible", he said. In his opinion, most of Marshall's students accept this responsibility, but he is regretful that there is always a handful of those who are "rebellious and negative toward authority and who could ruin new policies for the others."

Mr. Hackett would like to see a "teacher-pupil relationship exist where these two groups would recognize each other as individual human beings. The teachers should not be looked upon as a figure of authority or fear." He believes that this type of "mutual and cooperative institution is the most successful."

He would also like students to realize that school is a place created for success and not failure.

Wayne Elliott
Assistant Principal

"Marshall's immense population", states Mr. Wayne Elliott, assistant principal, "can almost be looked at as a small city. It is easy to get lost and students must make continual efforts to bring the school together as do members of a community."

Mr. Elliott feels that the main task of John Marshall is to increase the flow of information from teacher to pupil. The assistant principal's previous guidance experience at Juneau High School and at the Administration Building aid him in setting students on the right track toward completing this task.

Over the past year Mr. Elliott has seen a great improvement in the area of discipline at Marshall. This is the change from a detention system to a demerit system. "While a detention punishes a student for being bad," states Mr. Elliott, "the demerit system hands out demerits that can be wiped off the students' record after a period of time and rewards him for being good."

"During the past year I have seen a general settled-down attitude of both high school and university students," cites Mr. Jack Felser, assistant principal at John Marshall. "In the halls of this school, for example, the atmosphere has changed from that of tension to that of serenity. Students seem to be realizing that they are in school to learn and if alterations of the institution need to be made, they can best be accomplished by working in the system".

Mr. Felser sees each student as a citizen of the school's society, who is responsible for his own destiny. By realizing this, feels the assistant principal, a student can aid his later life by making the most of his high school years.

An important change has come to Marshall over the past year. According to Mr. Felser, "Marshall's recent curriculum changes have made the system more flexible and have resulted in much better adaptation of students to their courses and learnings".

Sincere Congratulations To The 1972 Senior Class

It has been a pleasure to have served the John Marshall Junior-Senior High School in the production of the Nineteen Hundred Seventy-Two Gavel.

Kathy -
It's hard to put in words what the last four months have meant to me. Just being with you has meant so much to me, I don't know how I'll ever be able to say good-bye on June 30. It's hard to believe that we were able to get so much Mid. Ball, the company, all of the parties, sheepshead games and many other activities all within that little span of time we had together. We never really had time to just sit down and talk. Maybe one can do that soon.
I hope you'll always remember me and find room in your heart for me. Please keep in touch and best of luck always.
Love. A. Keane

Kathy
Whew! Found a space to write in! You should change your name from "Dave" to "Suave" since it better describes you. Do what comes natural and maybe I'll see ya this summer!
Brian Jastfer

Kathy - let me know when you're really open for business & need a good pitcher (Carla Kack) I'll be your first customer any-time. Take it easy on the guys this year & have fun!
Love
Dave Miller

Kathy - English was a blast. Gymnastics was interesting, the whole year was great! I'll probably be seeing you next year, so until then, have fun. Gail Abendroth

Kathy
It's really been fun knowing you, especially during the stumble bum museum of science and Nat. Good luck always, Maureen

Kathy -
Sure was fun camping with you this summer. Next year should be a blast (he sun burn probably got some rich Chicago op Camping with you sometimes together and go out to the we can do that soon. Take this summer or something like that but no matter what you do have fun. Love Dave

Kathy -
I've had a fun year in English with the 2 B's (Barbie Bielenberg). Maybe next year we'll see you in Berman's.
Have a nice summer,
Terry Orlick

Kathy -
good luck to a good pitcher & catcher

summer, your friend always,
Jim Wolfe
P.S.: you would make a great president!
KATHY - you're a very nice person. I hope you win the election. Have a fun summer
